Book Rental Fees In Mokena School To Show Increase

At a recent meeting of the Mokena Board of Education the book rental was increased to $11.50 for each pupil—grades 1 thru 8—for the 1968-69 school year. Rising costs of textbooks and workbooks over the past three years and a change in texts in social studies was cited as the reason for the increase.

The kindergarten fee of $8 will remain the same ($3 for books and supplies, and $5 for milk for the year).

Other fees remain the same, $4 for grades 6-8 for gym fees, which includes suit rental and towel service.

Student lunches will be 35 cents per day or $1.75 per week. Individual purchases of milk will be 3 cents per half pint per day or 15 cents a week.

Bus fees also remain the same, $4 for one passenger in family, $5 for two, and $6 for three or more; kindergarten $2 per month for one way if no other children from the family use the bus service.

A student accident insurance policy is available at $2 (optional).

Parents are encouraged to pay fees during the summer to avoid long lines on the first day of school. Payments may be made at the district office located at Carpenter Street School until the first day of school, Aug. 26. On that date both schools will collect fees. Book fees must be paid by the first day of school. Arrangements for monthly payments may be made by calling the school office (479-9558).

Feel Economy Pinch In Area Post Offices

The economy program of the post office department will be felt in area post offices beginning July 27, according to work received by postmasters from Washington.

Saturday service at area post offices will be restricted to two hours in the morning for handling of general delivery and will call mail only. No stamps or money orders will be sold.

Post offices now keep open four hours on Saturday mornings and give full service. The postmaster general says congress has cut his appropriations too deeply so the department must economize. Next this will be cessation of residential mail delivery on Saturdays, it was said.

Says S. Suburbs Need Teachers

By conservative estimate, the teacher shortage in South Suburban public schools continues to be a problem of acute proportion. The extent of the shortage and the existing grade level and subject matter vacancies are pinpointed in the most recent survey of individual district needs completed by the Educational Development Cooperative (EDC) of South Cook and North Will counties.

On the basis of the survey, at least 300 teachers are needed to fill openings in area schools as the elementary and secondary districts officially begin the 1968-69 year.

Additionally, EDC's 14 member high school districts face an even greater shortage of teaching personnel than last year at approximately the same time, according to the survey.

In July of last year, the survey showed about 50 existing high school position vacancies. This year the numbers total at least 89.

A breakdown of the high school teacher needs indicates the gravest shortage in the subject areas of English; math, science and/or math/science combinations; industrial arts; girls and boys physical education; guidance and counseling. Business education and home economics constitute the next largest categories of teacher need.

At the elementary level, the aggregate of primary level (kindergarten and grades one, two and three) teachers needed by the reporting districts totals 68. About the same number is needed to staff junior high school classrooms and only a slightly lesser number for the intermediate grades.

Notable elementary school teacher shortages are in the vocal music, girls and boys physical education, math, language arts, fine and applied arts, and science subject areas, respectively.

A further breakdown of the elementary school teaching needs shows ten in special categories such as principals, three; social workers, three; and one each in the areas of diagnostician, educable mentally handicapped, school nurse, and remedial reading.

The periodic survey of teach needs, the teacher recruitment and placement service is one of the activities carried on by EDC under the program "Operation Talent Search." These services and other projects are part of the overall plan for cooperation among the more than 60 elementary and secondary member districts.

EDC is beginning its second year of operation following one year of planning. It is funded primarily through Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 supplemented by a per student assessment to member districts.

EDC's teacher placement service was designed by staff and member superintendents in an effort to help overcome the problem of teacher supply and demand within the region.

Well over 100 teachers were placed thru the service during the 1967-68 year. In view of the initial success of the program and the continuing and in fact increasing need, plans call for expansion of the service thru contact with colleges, universities and placement services over a five-state Midwest area, according to L. Marvin Olmsted, EDC's executive director.

Qualified teacher candidates may register with EDC in person at 18216 Harwood Avenue, Homewood, Illinois 60430, by writing, or by calling 799-7900 and their names and other information will be forwarded to districts which have indicated unfilled positions by means of the survey. In turn, candidates receive a list of available positions. Also, superintendents who may have an excess of qualified candidates refer prospective teachers to EDC or to other districts with unfilled needs.

The little league Mokena twins played two more games last week, both decided by one run. In the first game the twins faced an undefeated New Lenox economy team. Behind some fantastic pitching by Gerry Thomas, the twins led 6-1 after four innings. But then the roof caved in, with New Lenox tying it in the sixth inning and then pushing across a run in the eighth to win 7-6. Thomas pitched brilliantly, striking out eleven in the six innings he worked. He also drove in five of the twins six runs with two hits including a three run homer.

The twins were involved in their sixth one run game of the season last Thursday night at Manhattan and this time Mokena got a break when Barry Gaba circled the bases on throwing errors in the fourth inning with what turned out to be the winning run. Timmy Wilson turned in five innings of strong relief pitching and had three hits, as did Barry Gaba. The final score was 6-5.

The twins now have a 5-5 record with six games remaining on the schedule. Coming games include a home game with the Frankfort cubs on Thursday, July 18, and a game with the Arbury Hills sox on Monday, July 22, which will be played on the Arbury Hills field.

Parochial, Public Classes To Combine

Mokena's public and parochial schools will be working together the coming year.

An agreement has been reached between the public school board and the St. Mary's parish school board whereby the 7th and 8th grade pupils at St. Mary's will take music, science and physical education instruction at Willowcrest School.

The 7th grade pupils will report for their classes at Willowcrest School in the morning. At noon they will go to St. Mary's for the remainder of the day for their other subjects.

Meanwhile the eighth grade pupils will have spent the morning hours at St. Mary's and come to Willowcrest for their afternoon classes.

This cooperative program, it was said, is the second such dual-enrollment plan in the county, Valley View School District, No. 96, and St. Andrew parish of Hampton Park have just completed their first full year under such an arrangement. It was reported to be a success.

Some Animals Just Natural Travelers

Most animals are born wayfarers. They are anxious to poke their nose into strange places, carouse through open spaces and discover new things.
But, the Chicago Motor Club-AAA points out, animals are anxious to travel on their own two feet.
Put these friendly family critters into the car, stuffed in among the kids and baggage, and suddenly their wonderlust is gone, their spirit vanished.
Fortunately, animals can be taught and many are accommodating. The teaching process should begin with short trips around the city to get your pet used to the idea of a moving auto.
Next, make sure your pet knows his place. This is not romping across seats or standing at an open window. Wind at windows can damage a dog's eyes, for example.
In cases of extreme car sickness your veterinarian can recommend proper drugs to calm your pet.
For the sake of comfort and a touch of home, take along your pet's blanket or some familiar object, such as his feeding dish. If your pet is to be alone while traveling, leave with him an article of your personal clothing for a reassuring smell.
Don't feed your pet just before beginning a trip. He can be given a little water while enroute, however.

Let Contract For Oakview Addition

The Board of Education of New Lenox School District 122 has awarded a contract for the Oakview School addition to the Molaschi Construction Co., Joliet, whose base bid of $198,705 was low.

Other bidders on the project were Muzzucco Construction Co., $205,000; the Regan Construction Co., $205,900; and the Berg Construction Co., $236,500.

Along with the base bid proposal, the board approved the addition of an alternate to include the construction of two additional rooms for special education classes.

The cost of the two rooms will be funded jointly by the seven school districts participating in the Lincoln-Way Area Special Education Co-operative Program.

The total Oakview School addition includes six classrooms, a new office complex for the Junior High School, and a gymnasium annex including additional dressing room facilities for boys and girls physical education classes.

Construction will begin immediately and is scheduled to be completed in 210 working days.

Lawyer Is Found Dead

Arthur B. Sachs, 52, of 1336 Braeburn Rd., Flossmoor, who was facing a five-year prison term, was found dead of a gunshot wound last Saturday in a room in the Drake-Oakbrook Hotel at Oakbrook.

Sachs was one of the attorneys who represented a subdivision developer at Orland Park several years ago and is listed as a director and officer in numerous corporations dealing in real estate and financing.

Sgt. Harold J. Walthers, of the Oakbrook Police, said a man registered at the hotel at 8:15 p.m. Friday, using the name A.B. Sachs. The body was discovered by a maid at 3:15 the following day.

There was a bullet wound above the right eye and powder burns on the face. A .38 caliber revolver with a discharged shell in the cylinder was found near the body.

A two-page letter written on yellow paper such as attorneys use in making notes, was found on a night table, according to Sgt. Walthers. In it, Sachs stated he was innocent of the charges against him.

Currency in the amount of $18 was lying on top of another note.

"This is for room rent," this note read.

A small suitcase in the room contained a shirt, some revolver cartridges, a gun box, and a gun cleaning kit.

The body was taken to a Downers Grove mortuary for an autopsy.

Sachs was sentenced to prison on March 11, 1966. He and two other men had been convicted of misapplying more than $3-million in federally insured savings from three banks.

Sachs fought to keep out of prison but his appeals were unsuccessful and last Friday, when he failed to surrender to federal authorities to go to prison, a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Antique Firm Finds Cache of Old Honey

In remodeling an old building at Frankfort to serve them as a part of their retail outlet, George Lunde and Ray Nicoud, antique dealers, uncovered a mass of honey crammed between the rafters above a false ceiling.

It was estimated by a beekeeper who was attracted to the scene by word of the find that bees had been laboring at the task for 20 years, the partners said.

The bees gained entry thru a hole in the east wall because of a missing brick. Apparently the bees began their honey storing next to the wall. The comb there is black with age. The newest honey is at the end, about four feet in from the wall.

Lunde and Nicoud recently purchased the building from Herbert Folkers, as well as the structure next door west, which once housed Barker's Bank. The building to the east was used by the Folker brothers, Frank, Will and Peter, for their meat market, but has had a variety of uses since.

The new owners plan to include a shop in the building to restore antiques, not only for themselves but for persons who require such a service.

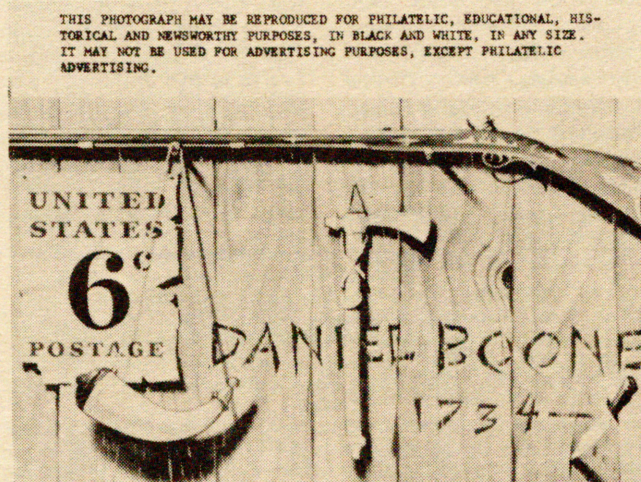

The building itself goes back a hundred years and with an 8-foot ceiling in the basement, 12 feet on the

756 Get Free Chest X-Rays At Orland

During the recent community X-ray survey in Orland Park a total of 756 x-rays were taken by the mobile unit from the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium District.

The annual free chest X-ray service is provided by The District, which is tax supported. The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County (the Christmas Seal agency), the Cook County Health Department, and local health departments cooperate and assist in providing this service.

To register people for their X-rays a total of 26 volunteers provided 30 hours of volunteer help for the project. These volunteers were from Orland Park Junior Woman's Club headed by Mrs. Sally Furlong, 14415 Beacon St., the group's president, and Mrs. William E. Kane, 14712 West Ave., the volunteer chairman.

John E. Egdorf, executive director of The Tuberculosis Institute, praised the volunteers for their support of the X-ray program. "This is a significant public service in helping an official health agency accomplish a most worthwhile task. It shows how citizens can work to make their community a better place to live."

Arbury Hills

Scouts Parents Reminded Of Physical Examination

Mrs. Edward Hovi
Telephone: 479-5740

The boy scouts recently added a transfer scout from Frankfort into the troop, Steve Thompson, who lives on Oak street here in Arbury Hills. He is a long time scout who has strived hard to attain the rank of life scout, only one rank below eagle scout. He is presently working toward that much desired rank, and is to be commended on the manner which he digs into the badge challenges to achieve his goal. You are a welcome addition to the troop, Steve. The troop will be leaving for summer camp at Morris in about ten days. Don't forget parents that the boys are required to have a physical examination before leaving for camp. Remember the date, July 28.

The baseball season here in Arbury Hills is rapidly reaching its end for this year. Regularly scheduled play is to finish on Aug. 1, but some make-up games may be played following that date; and two all-star days are set for Aug. 4 and Aug. 11. The Pony Team will have two games in the next week. The first one will be played on our home field against the Frankfort giants on tomorrow evening, July 19, and the second will be a travel ing date to Peotone on next Tuesday evening, July 23.

The A team will have three games in the next week with the first being a home game against the Mokena dodgers tonight, Thursday, July 18. The second game will also be a home game against the Mokena twins on next Mon day evening, July 22. The third game will round out the week and will also be played on the home field against the New Lenox economy team next Thurs day evening, July 25. The A team had a week of mixed reactions when they had a field day on Monday evening, July 8 against the Lincoln Estates meds. The final score was nineteen to one when it was called by the um pire, because of the lopsid ed score. It was a differ ent picture entirely on Thurs day, July 11, when the Frank fort lions came in for a well played game from both sides. It was a pitcher's game all the way, with the Frankfort team coming out the victor by the score of two to zero.

The Sandy's B team play ed two high scoring games last week. The first game was played against the Gunty's B team and was a twelve to five drubbing. The second game had the same result, but was a much clos er game with the score be ing eight to eleven in their favor in the sixth inning.

Much to their dismay, and the Rutan's teams delight Dennis Neumayer led the inning off with a home run. He was followed by Jack Perritano's triple and Terry Neumayer's single scoring the second run of the inning. The winning hit was a home run by Mike Hovi scoring Terry Neumayer and him self for the winning runs.

In order to preserve my neck from a lynching, I wish to beg forgiveness of the red farm team. I must have been thinking backwards last week, when I reported that they had won only one game all season. In reality they have only lost one game all season. The boys have an eight victory and one loss record this year, and I will gladly bring out my sack cloth and ashes to atone for my rash statement. So very sorry boys!

The Fred Larsen family spent a week here recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Tekotte on Hickory Street. The Larsen's were former residents of Ar bury Hills before returning to their original St. Louis area home. They spent a week renewing acquaintances.

Land And Water Management Problems In Illinois

The management of land and the management of the water on it and in it are closely related, according to conservation officials.

Authorities point out that there are a number of factors involved in battling the problems of the land and water resources in Illinois. Not only are there the obvious human elements to be considered, but also the capabilities and limitations of the soil itself, as well as, the climate and the changing economic circumstances throughout the state.

One of the major problems confronting conservationists today is that the schism between rural and urban areas no longer truly exists. The cities sprawl into the countryside and increasingly encroach on agricultural lands. And, certainly water respects no arbitrary boundaries. Sedimentation from soil erosion can fill a city water supply reservoir, or urban lapover on farming land can change the drainage pattern or usurp the natural flood plain and destroy a well-planned farm management program.

Much of Illinois was originally a marshy prairie with such poor drainage it could not be farmed. Today, the state has been converted into some of the world's most productive crop-land with more than 82 percent of the area now suitable for cultivation. Yet, conservation officials report that the task of conserving the soil and water resources is only one-third finished.

In the past 20 years the advent of modern equipment, improved crop varieties, increased use of fertilizers, better land culture practices, and the use of high plant populations have greatly increased the state's agricultural production. Conservation officials, however, point out that new machines, chemicals and production techniques are of little or no value without good arable soils to which they can be applied and a sufficient water supply to nourish the crops.

Productive land for agriculture will become more, not less, important in the years ahead. In addition, non-agricultural needs of added millions of people for living space, recreational areas and urban and industrial sites must be met from these same areas which serve residents today.

Essentially the job ahead, reports soil conservationists, is to guide the application of the developing technology toward making efficient use of the productive potentials of soil and water resources without depleting or destroying their capabilities for future use.

An inventory completed in 1961 by various Federal, state and local organizations showed that about 27 million acres of Illinois land are suitable for regular cultivation, with most of this already being used as cropland. Also, there are about two million acres of land suitable for occasional cultivation, if intensive conservation practices are applied, but better if kept in permanent vegetation. About half of this is now being cultivated and creates a continuing conservation problem, officials report.

About five million acres of land is now in pasture and woodlands, providing some reserve that could be cultivated in the future if extensive work is done on it.

The inventory also indicated that the acreage of cropland would decrease about 200,000 acres by 1975; pasture will decrease about 400,000 acres; and forest and woodland will decrease about 200,000 acres.

The biggest net change in land use is expected to be in land converted to urban and other non-agricultural uses. A portion of the land now used for farming purposes will also change via crop production shifting. These shifts in land use present one of the major soil conservation problems to be faced in the next few years.

Authorities also mention that increased irrigation practices in the future will "up" the crop production, but will also take away land area and pose new problems in regard to the water resources . . . unless comprehensive planning is done now to handle the future demands.

In urban areas, the authorities report the most serious soil and water problems are flooding, seasonal high water marks, corrosion of utility pipes, poorly functioning septic tanks, and building foundation failures. Perhaps the key problems are related to sewage disposal since about 600 small towns in Illinois have no sewer systems or sewage treatment plants. These factors contribute greatly to the polluted condition of the majority of waterways and underground water resources throughout the state.

With the problems increasing at a rapid rate, conservationists are fully aware of the magnitude of the job ahead if the land and water resources of the state are to be guarded.

Officials point out that some measure of conservation work is needed on two-thirds of the Illinois' farmlands. Nearly three-fourths of the pasture and woodlands need conservation treatment, improvement or protection. About one-fifth of the pasture lands needs grass stands, and a third of it needs improvement of the existing grass stands. About one - sixth of the privately owned forest and woodlands needs new timber stands, and about one - third of the existing timber needs improvement.

One of the major tasks of conservation is to see that land is put to its proper use, and officials point out that much needs to be done in this realm of endeavor. Soils which are unsuited for homes, schools and industries may be good for parks, wildlife sanctuaries or crops.

Today, every county in Illinois is organized into 98 soil and water conservation districts, but officials point out that urban areas are excluded. Since conservation cannot be adequately managed unless all soil is under protective measures, this hampers the total improvement program.

Another aspect involved which hinders conservation authorities from adequately combating the land and water resources problem is the lack of funds to provide enough "watershed" projects throughout the state.

The watershed concept combines conservation with flood prevention, and often builds a lake for water supply and recreation as well.

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

Vacation time is a wonderful opportunity for families to draw closer together in fun and activities in the great outdoors - though it be only in the home yard.

Some of life's best learning experiences and fondest memories occur during the enjoyment of family outings. Make the most of them this summertime.

Respectfully,

The watershed project on Big Blue Creek, a tributary of the Illinois River near Pittsfield, is one of Illinois' conservation success stories. Yearly floods damaged bottom-land crops; erosion was severe on the uplands; the water shortage was critical; and the Pittsfield reservoir was filling with silt, while farmers hauled water from town to their livestock. Then two new reservoirs were constructed, terraces and farm ponds were built on the uplands and new trees planted. The entire project brought new businesses, new homes, flood protection, an adequate water supply, and a recreational lake to Pittsfield. It also reduced the soil loss each year.

But, so far, due to limited funds, only four small watershed projects have been completed in Illinois. Eleven more have been approved for construction; five others found economically feasible; and 29 are in the study stage. Many more watersheds are feasible, explain conservation officials. They estimate that at least 200 could be constructed in the Upper Mississippi Basin; 50 in the Wabash Basin; and 11 in the Ohio Basin.

Among the list of old standby perennials, the Oriental poppy would be at the top of the list. This is a flower that is bold and brassy yet it has an element of grace that allows it to mix well with other sun loving perennials.

By now most of the poppy flowers have died down and the foliage of spring is disappearing as this plant goes into its short period of summer dormancy. Later in the summer the coarse ferny leaves will reappear so that the plant can build food reserves for next year's display of bloom.

Growing the poppy is easy if you understand it. If, however, you move and try to transplant them at just any old time, you'll be doomed to failure. They produce a large top root which does not transplant well. So, move only while they are young and small whether they are dormant or potted.

However, this month they are readily started from root cuttings taken from large old plants. Lift an old crown and cut up the long fleshy roots into two or three inch sections. It is very important to know top from bottom when taking these cuttings. Therefore, cut the top of the cutting straight across and the bottom on a slant. Place the slanted end of the cutting downward in slightly moist sand. Water very sparingly until a few shoots appear. Then you can water slightly more often. By fall the cuttings may be moved to a nursery block in the garden. The next step is to wait until the ground is frozen in December. Then cover with a mulch to keep the soil temporarily thawing during the winter. Once the soil is frozen you want it to remain frozen until spring.

When setting out your poppies give them a location to their liking. It must be very well drained. Overly moist soils will cause rotting of the long fleshy roots. Oriental poppies should also be in full sun, spaced one and a half to two feet apart.

Some of the new colors and varieties are worth searching for in local nurseries. Sungod is a bright red; Salome a French rose and Helen Elizabeth a very good pink.

Registration Of School District 122 July 22-26

Mrs. Dolores Anderson
Telephone: 485-2365

Pre-registration for students who will be attending New Lenox school district 122 for the 1968-69 school year will be held July 22, 23, 24, and 25 and 26 from 8:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Oakview school lobby. Registration fees will be $10.00 for book rental and $7.00 for milk for the entire year. A student insurance policy will be available for $2.00 and "Around The Clock" Insurance will be $15.00.

Dictionaries may be purchased for students in grades 3 thru 8 who are required to have school dictionaries.

To speed up registration duplicate enrollment cards were sent home with children at the close of the school year, so that parents could fill them out before the registration dates. It is extremely important that every effort be made to enroll your children during registration week.

Late date registration imposes tremendous difficulty and extra work on the part of the school administration.

Members of the class of 1957-58 of Lincoln-Way High school, are making plans for a reunion picnic, to be held at the Mokena Park, Sunday, August 4. A pot luck dinner will be served at 12:30, and all those attending are asked to bring their own table service, a meat dish, and another dish to pass, and their own beverage.

For more information on the affair, call Mrs. Shirley Wondrasek of New Lenox at 485-6931; Mrs. Willa Bormet of Mokena, at 479-9178; or Mrs. Frances Klotz of New Lenox, at 485-6187.

Those on the committee planning the picnic are: Mesdames, Carol Klotz, Phyllis Storm, Beth Carter, Linda Wade, Carol Foster, Lois Neiman, Sandy Techman, Sharon Petleski, Shirley Wondrasek, Willa Bormet, and Frances Klotz.

Mrs. Glenn Young and Mrs. Leonard Warning were the New Lenox representatives of the United Methodist Church at the W.S.C.S. School of Missions which was held last week at North Central College in Naperville. Mrs. Varo Shores and Mrs. Herbert George attended the Mini-School of Missions which was also held at North Central College last week.

At the recent meeting of the official board of the United Methodist Church, plans were made for the work of the church for the coming year. George Preston was elected chairman, and Mrs. Orman Rowe was designated secretary. Orville Phillips retired as board chairman. In turning over the gavel to his successor he expressed appreciation to all members of the Board for their cooperation during the past three years. He pointed out that his retirement meant not a lessening of his service to the church as this would give him more time to devote to the camp ground development project of the Trustees.

Trustees of the church are given the administration and oversight of the church property, and at this meeting, they organized by electing the following officers: Chairman, Kenneth Schofield; Vice chairman, Robert Grisham; Treasurer; Evans Drotts; and Secretary, Orville Phillips. Steady improvement of the Camp Grounds are evident. The Trustees are engaged in a project now to retap one of the wells on the grounds to provide drinking water and to service some sanitation facilities to be installed. A new sign on the highway designates the grounds as property of the church. The crushed stone drive has been regraded and more of the foundations of former cottages have been removed. A regular pattern of mowing weeds is being instituted.

Church groups and families are urged to make use of the grounds for outdoor meetings and picnics. Plans are underway for a Chuck Wagon feed to be given in September.

The youth group of the United Methodist Church have planned an ice cream social for Wednesday, July 17 at 7 p.m. on the church parsonage front lawn. Sundaes, cakes and hot or cold drinks will be served, and tickets will be available from any member of the Methodist youth fellowship.

The Nazarene junior high camp will be held at the district center at Kankakee July 22 thru 26. Several from the New Lenox church will be in attendance along with Mr. Gary Rupnow who will be a counselor. A camping period for exceptional children will also be held July 29 thru August 2 and any one from the area can send their children who are handicapped by registering them with Rev. Glenn Evans, 326 S. Douglas in Bradley, Ill. 60915. Pre-registration fee is two dollars.

Sixty boys and girls have registered for the Bible school at the New Lenox church of the Nazarene. Twenty workers make up the staff with Lora Gilbert as director. The school will continue thru next week with the Bible program being held on Friday evening, at 7:30 p.m. All parents and friends are invited.

The teen club of the New Lenox Church of the Nazarene will meet at the Elmer Harrison home on July 27 at seven p.m. with Eleanor Pester as director and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Borders as sponsors.

Wedding attendants are being announced today by Betty Jane Malloy and Michael A. Bernard, who will be married July 20 at 3 p.m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church at Mokena.

Maid of honor will be Miss Kathy Malloy, sister of the bride-elect and bridesmaids will be Miss Susan Malloy, sister of the bride-elect, Miss Cheryl Bernard, sister of the bridegroom-to-be, Miss Nancy Carlson of Mokena, Miss Chris Stoner of Joliet and Miss Jan Neilis of New Lenox.

Mr. Bernard has asked Robert Bowser of New Lenox to be his best man. Ushers will be Michael and Danny Malloy, cousins, and Dennis Malloy, brother of the bride-elect, Tom Stoner and Bob Arthur, and Larry Bernard, a cousin of the bridegroom-to-be.

A rehearsal dinner will be given at the home of the future bridegrooms parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bernard, 10942 First Street in Mokena on Thursday night, July 18.

Invitations have been issued for the reception, which will be held at the Palos Country Club in Palos Park at 6:30 p.m.

Miss Betty Malloy was the honored guest at two bridal showers, one given by the aunts of the bridegroom-to-be, Mrs. Russell Bormet, Mrs. Ralph Swanberg, Mrs. David Edmond, Mrs. Ray Bernard, Mrs. Todd Bennett, and Mrs. Robert Jacob. The bride to be was also honored at a shower given by her co-workers at the Illinois Bell telephone on Friday night.

Starting Sunday, July 7, Bible Talks will be given in the Oakview school, each Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30. Everyone is welcome.

Pastor Herbert George of the New Lenox Methodist Church attended the assembly of the historical society of the United Methodist Church held at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, July 9, 10, and 11. As one of the delegates of the Rock River Conference he joined representatives of all the north central conferences to bring together the histories of 200 years of the E.U.B. and Methodist development. The site of the assembly provided first hand opportunities to review the Methodist missions to the Wyandott Indians. This was the first missionary project of American Methodism. A visit was made to the site of the mission which was started by John Stewart, a Negro, in 1815 at Merietta.

The New Lenox Merry Maidens 4-H club members are busy working on their projects to enter the 4-H show at Francis Field, that will open on Tuesday July 23 at 9 a.m. Several of the girls are making skirts and scarves, while other members are entering the baking contest that will be held July 25.

The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of their leader, Mrs. Walter Heeg, 1133 Cooper road on Wednesday at 9 a.m. Members enjoyed a picnic held last week at Pilcher Park.

Mrs. Algot Peterson, New Lenox librarian, has announced that she has gotten 100 new books for the rotating collection from Bur-Oak Library System, for the library shelves.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Klotz, Pottowatome Drive, are the proud parents of a son born June 26 at Silver Cross hospital in Joliet. The new arrival has been named Jeffrey Allen and was welcomed home by two brothers, Norman, Jr. and William.

Cub scouts of pack 6 enjoyed a tour to Chicago on Wednesday.

A MID-YEAR PROGRESS REPORT from JOLIET FEDERAL

"Where people Come First"

The commodity we deal with here at Joliet Federal - money - is symbolic of something far deeper and more meaningful. What it really amounts to is happiness, security, achievement, ambitions and desires of people. These are the reasons why so many people save here - why they finance their homes here. Our services are offered to make the accomplishment of your goal of financial independence possible; to enable you to enjoy the fruits of security and meaningful planning for the future as only Americans can.

It is our firm philosophy that the smallest saver deserves the same recognition and consideration as the largest . . . as an individual and a person. This is why you will always find the officers and staff friendly and eager to be of whatever assistance they can.

As one of the leading and strongest savings and loan associations in the United States and the only federally chartered and federally supervised savings and loan association in Will County, we pledge ourselves to maintaining the sound, conservative management policies that provide the foundation for the steady progress this association has made during the past 34 years. And in looking ahead to the balance of 1968, it is the pledge of everyone here at Joliet Federal to continue to strive for even greater service to you - the people, who ARE Joliet Federal.

Sincerely,
JOHN B. FIGEL
President

The people of Lincoln Estates have forwarded petitions to the State Highway Department at Elgin and to Representative Robert Blair, State Highway Commissioner, requesting a signal device to be placed on the corner of route 30 and 80th avenue. Due to the many accidents that have occurred in the area such a device is necessary for the protection of our children who must cross the highway to attend the many activities going on in our community. As further information becomes available it will be published.

Adopts Social Studies Program

Students in second, third, and fourth grades will have new books in place of their old geography texts when school opens this fall.

The Board of Education decided to adopt the Greater Cleveland Social Studies Program after hearing a recommendation made by Coleman Rogers, supervisor of curriculum. This committee met frequently throughout the past school year studying many programs. After a trip to Cleveland where they observed the Greater Cleveland program in operation, they selected what they thought was the best new program now available.

Geography, history, economics, and political science are combined into one subject. The new program is developed along the problem solving approach and is highly conceptual rather than memorization of facts.

In the second grade, pupils will study "Communities At Home and Abroad". Students in the third grade will be taught "The Making of Anglo-America", and "The Metropolitan Community and Chicago". The fourth grade curriculum will include "The Story of Agriculture, The Story of Industry, and India, A Society In Transition".

In following years, the program will be extended into the upper grades.

July 19, beginning at about 8:30. It will be a Walt Disney picture entitled the "Vanishing Prairie".
